BALTIMORE—WEDNESDAY, JULY 1, 1829.

On the 22d of This Month,

The drawing of the STATE LOTTERY, No. 3, will take place in this City, and under the superintendence of the Commissioners appointed by the Governor and Council. The Scheme is published on the next page.—It is arranged on the ODD AND EVEN SYSTEM, which is continued in consequence of its established and unrivalled popularity. The Scheme is, comparatively, brilliant; and is well adapted for renewals of small prizes of the last scheme, as well as for new investments—Tickets being at Three Dollars, and Shares in proportion.

THE VERY SMALL RISK in this Scheme is worthy of remark—there being no prize less than the price of the tickets—there being also more Prizes than Blanks—and a certainty of obtaining at least One Prize in the purchase of two tickets or two shares, and in the same proportion for any greater quantity purchased.—The Capital Prize of FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS is a brilliant sum in return for the small amount of Three Dolls.

No. 3307—10,000 DOLLARS.

This brilliant prize drawn in the last scheme of the STATE LOTTERY, is owned by a gentleman in the Northern neck of Virginia; he does not wish his name made public—consequently we do not give it. We have a letter from him, announcing his intention of visiting us after harvest, when we shall have the pleasure of handing him in person the proceeds of his fortunate investment.

Orders for Tickets,

Directed to COHEN'S OFFICE, will meet the same prompt and punctual attention as if on personal application. Remittances can be made either in Cash or in prize tickets. The notes of any Bank of good repute, in the United States will be received in payment at par.—Address, Riddle.

You will discover that I am composed of seven letters, very hard to get at, and beloved by all persons. Take away my first three letters and you will like me. Combine my 1st, 5th and 6th, and you cannot help but like me. But if you take my 1st, 2d and 7th, I am sure you will dislike me very much. My 4th, 2d and 6th, is a vast heavy weight and is all the fashion. My 6th, 7th and 4th, is useful. Take my first four letters and you will consider me strong. My 3d, 5th and 7th, is an herb bitter to the taste. My 3d, 2d and 7th, is a part of a fish. My 6th, 2d and 4th, is considered as negative. My 3d, 2d, 5th and 4th, is a defeat, but only add my 7th to it and I am a march. My 4th, 2d, 6th and 7th, is an accent. My 4th, 5th, 3d and 6th, is called a change. Take my 4th, 2d, 5th and 3d, and I am a roving journey. My 2d, 3d and 7th, is metal in its mineral state. Put my 2d, 6th and 7th together, and you will plainly see I am single. My 6th, 2d, 4th and 7th, is a sound.—And to make an end of my story, I can at all times be found at COHEN'S OFFICE, No. 114, Market-street, Baltimore.

We believe many people are not aware of the excellent effects of Chloride of Lime in purifying places charged with foul air, and destroying the smell arising from sewers, gutters, &c. It is very cheap, and certainly efficacious. It should be kept in bottles well stopped and unexposed. One table spoon full in a gallon of water thrown into a place designed to be purified, will destroy the odour. The advantages that would result from its use during the summer months, is obvious.

CENTENARY ANNIVERSARY OF BALTIMORE.

On the eighth day of August, 1729, the original law for laying out a village, which was the foundation of the present city of Baltimore, was passed by the Assembly of this State. As it may be unknown to many of our readers, we give it to them from the original edition of the laws of the State:

"At a Session of Assembly, begun and held at the City of Annapolis, in the County of Anne Arundle, for the province of Maryland, on the 10th day of July, in the fifteenth year of the dominion of the right honourable CHARLES, absolute Lord and Proprietary of the Province of Maryland, and Avalon, Lord Baron of Baltimore, &c. and ended the 8th of August, Anno Domini 1729, were enacted the following laws:

Benedict Leonard Calvert, Esq., Governor.

CHAP. XII.

"An act for erecting a town on the north side of Patapsco, in Baltimore County, and for laying out in lots sixty acres of land, in and about the place where one John Flemming now lives."

The details of the act contain the usual provisions for laying out a town, which the sixth section provides shall be called "Baltimore Town."

Such was the origin of this city: its history and progress have perhaps been more remarkable than any other city in the United States. Up to the year 1752, it continued to be a small village, with a population of not more than 350 souls—now it is the third city in the Union in point of population, and we will repeat, what we said some years ago, upon the occasion of commencing one of our great public works, that Baltimore will be the great central City of the Union.

We are gratified to be able to announce that the preparatory surveys for the Baltimore and Susquehanna Rail Road, under the active superintendence of the President, are in full progress, and that the work will be actually commenced, and the first stone laid on the EIGHTH DAY OF AUGUST NEXT, THE GRAND CENTENARY ANNIVERSARY OF BALTIMORE—a day which, we trust, will forever be held sacred in the annals of our city, and celebrated in a spirit becoming the character of its people.

Having announced the intended commencement of this important work, it may not be amiss to take a retrospective view of the rise and progress of our city to its present greatness. It is not yet quite a century, since a farm of 60 acres was designated as the site of our town, by a statute of the proprietary government—whereon, in the language of the law, a certain John Flemming resided. At the period of the Revolution it had not emerged from the character of a village, and though its citizens were then distinguished for their love of country and ardent devotion to the cause for which Congress had pledged "their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honour," the heavy business of commerce in Maryland, had, up to that time, been done at places which are known now scarcely by any other memorial than that furnished by tradition. In 1790, a period of 61 years from the commencement, Baltimore contained but 13,503 inhabitants: in 1800, she had nearly doubled that number, having 26,514—in 1810, we numbered 35,588, and in 1820, the date of the last census, our population had increased to 62,738. At the present time, we think it a moderate calculation to suppose that we have a population of 80,000 souls.—If we are correct in this assumption of data, and we believe we are, Baltimore presents the astonishing result of having more than trebled its entire population in less than thirty years.—Chronicle.

Extent of Territory and Population of the United States.—Table framed from a recent report of Congress, of one of its Committees on the Public Lands, containing the extent in square miles of each State or Territory; with an estimate of the population of each, as will probably be manifested in 1830.

27 Rhode Island,	1,360	- 66 -	90,000
28 Dis. Columbia,	100	- 500 -	50,000

It is estimated that the aggregate population of the United States in 1830 will be 13,000,000, and in 1860, allowing 35 per cent. on every ten years, 32,000,000.—Petersburg Times.

The Harvest.—The new crop of Wheat is represented to be a good average one in both quantity and quality. We have taken some pains to ascertain the opening price here, and from the information obtained, believe that $1.20 may now be obtained for red, and $1.25 for white, deliverable by the 15th or 20th July. A crop was contracted for by a miller yesterday, at that price, who had with-in three days contracted for two other crops, one at that price, and the other (half white and half red) at $1.16, all to be delivered by the 20th July.

[Richmond Whig.]

Silk Culture.—The raising of worms has been engaged in with much spirit this spring, in the neighbourhood of Petersburg, Va. One gentleman, Mr. Hannon, of that place, as we learn from the Times, has near 100,000 worms, now about to spin. They have been fed upon the leaves of the common Mulberry. The editor of the Times states it as a conclusion drawn from experience as well as observation and the testimony of others, that Virginia and North Carolina are as well adapted to the production of the silk worm, and the Mulberry on which it subsists, as any other region of the globe. Silk, it is alleged, can be produced as easily as cotton; and the only question seems to be, whether there will be found a sufficient market for the cocoons, after they are raised.

14.000 Tickets, amounting to..... $32.200 DOLLARS.

All Prizes payable in CASH, subject to a deduction of fifteen per cent.

MODE OF DRAWING.—The Numbers will be put into one wheel as usual—and in the other will be put the Prizes above the denomination of Three Dollars, and the drawing to progress in the usual manner. The 7000 prizes of $3 will be awarded to the Odd or Even Numbers of the Lottery, (as the case may be,) dependent on the drawing of the Capital Prize of Five Thousand Dollars—that is to say, if the $5,000 prize should come out to an Odd Number, then every Odd Number in the Scheme will be entitled to a Three Dollar Prize; if the 5,000 dollar prize should come out to an Even Number, then all the Even Numbers in the Scheme will be each entitled to a prize of Three Dollars.

Odd Numbers end with 1, 3, 5, 7 or 9.—Even Numbers end with 2, 4, 6, 8 or 0.

This mode of drawing not only permits the whole Lottery to be completed IN ONE DRAWING, but has the great advantage of distributing the small prizes regularly to every alternate number in the Scheme, so that the holder of two Tickets, or two Shares of Tickets, (one Odd and one Even Number,) will be certain of obtaining at least One Prize, and in the same ratio for any greater quantity. A Ticket drawing a superior prize in this Scheme is not restricted from drawing an inferior one also—many tickets, therefore, will necessarily obtain TWO PRIZES EACH!

PRICE OF TICKETS:

Whole Tickets $3—Halves $1.50—Quarters 75 cts.

To be had in the greatest variety of Numbers, (Odd and Even,) at

COHEN'S

ORDERS from any part of the United States, either by mail, post paid, or private conveyance, enclosing the Cash or Prize Tickets, will meet the same prompt and punctual attention as if on personal application. Be particular in directing to
